Important Notice

Warning on Bogus Telephone Calls, Fake Emails and Fraudulent Websites

The Corporation wishes to remind you to stay alert to bogus telephone calls (including voice message telephone calls), fake emails purportedly from the Corporation and fraudulent websites. You are advised to protect your personal information and your interests at all times.

Please note that:

1. The Corporation will not ask for your personal information through telephone calls or emails. You should not disclose your personal information to any suspicious caller or third party.

2. If you are suspicious about the identity of a person who claims to be employed by or representing the Corporation, you should obtain that person's full name and direct contact number for verification purposes and should not disclose your personal information during the process.

3. If you would like to verify any telephone calls, emails or website addresses purporting to be from the Corporation or report any fraudulent websites that purport to be the website of the Corporation, you should contact the Corporation through our general line: 2536 0000. If you are concerned that you may have disclosed your personal information to any suspicious person, please report such incidents to the Police.

4. To access the Corporation's website, you should type the website address of the Corporation (www.hkmc.com.hk) directly into the browser address bar. You should not log into the Corporation's website through hyperlinks embedded in any emails, SMS messages or third-party websites.
